

About the College

R. S. P. College, Jharia is the oldest college of Dhanbad city in the Jharkhand established in 1949 by Raja Kali Prasad Singh then the Raja (King) of Jharia in the memory of his father Raja Shiv Prasad. In 1951 the college secured temporary affiliation with Patna University. Then permanent affiliation from Bihar University in 1952. With the establishment of R.U. Ranchi in 1960 and V.B. U. Hazaribag in 1992, the College subsequently formed the part of these Universities. The College was registered under Section 2(f) of UGC Act on 31-10-87. It became the First NAAC Accredited constituent unit of the University in 2006.

About Jharia Town

Jharia is a notified area of Dhanbad district and fifteenth-largest town in the Jharkhand state, India. Jharia is famous for its rich coal resources, used to make coke and plays a very important role in the economy and development of country. Jharia is famous for a coal field fire that has burned underground for a century. The town is to be shifted due to the uncontrollable coal mine fires which have found to be undousable, leading to loss of property and lives.

About the Seminar

Education is not simply about making schools available for those who are already able to access them. It is about being proactive in identifying the barriers and obstacles learners encounter in attempting to access opportunities for quality education, as well as in removing those barriers and obstacles that lead to exclusion. It is being said globally that the 21st century is going to be the century of India. Despite of constitutional provision and many government efforts is still a country of stark contradictions and growing inequalities, has now the third highest number of billionaires according to Forbes list but ranks 130th in the Human Development Index (HDI). Poverty, inequality and Exclusion are still biggest challenges to the development of newly formed state of Jharkhand. Inclusion in education and social inclusion through education can play very important role in empowerment and development of the disadvantaged and marginalised people of this state. It is about being proactive in identifying the barriers and obstacles learners encounter in attempting to access opportunities for quality education, as well as in removing those barriers and obstacles that lead to exclusion and at the same time it is believed that inclusive education will play most important role in equalizing and integrating society for development of India and in making the country major player of 21st century.
